Nervously the four quiet Warriors crept to Wards Room 130 terrified but determined the four students were freed out. First in line was Josh was tall but brave, of them all though what he lost in height he had more than made up within courage.

In a instant gemma as a shooting star gemma turned to Josh, and whispered as quiet as a mouse, "I am scared" gemma mumbled a "I'm scared" "Nonsense," came the bossy reply from Bella, "grab the stake, shine the torch, hold the cross." There was no chance for the others to cower in fact, neither of them looked as if they would look at Bella. The plan was in place. Warriors knew what they had to do. Not every one was definitely sure that they actually showed no signs of pitifulness.

Hearts beating as fast as a shooting star. The gang entered the room the well holly room 13. It took brief second or two for their eyes to adjust the dark bays darks to the hayde Mantion. The demons dark leeking muddy cave was as high as Cerper Mantion. The blood hovering hell lay inside his dripping cave. His Cristal skin spread around the room. Josh's torch flickered on and there shadows danced around the room. It was bigger than they think but it was terrifying. Instantly gemma lifted the stake poised it at the beast heart, just then. Chris shone the torch over the horrifying blood loved coffin.

That Moment Josh held the cross above ensuring that it remained in a eye sight of the Vampire. Have you got the equipment rose from its wooden resting place. The Vampire's eyes screamed. As the terror of the situation dawned on him. Hurrying, the four students jumped into action. The stake pierced the heart. The cross turned into the beats dark soul. Quick the vampire falling down gema stopped the vampire
